Polycore® shutters by Sunland® Shutters are the result of nearly 12 years of customer research and development. These innovative aluminum reinforced shutters have the traditional look of wood shutters with all of the advantages of synthetic materials.

All of the stiles, rails and louvers are made with aluminum reinforcement. What this means is that the aluminum core is actually co-extruded into the solid polymer at the same time the component is made. This creates a very strong, rigid and durable component. The aluminum reinforced louvers, rails, and stiles make Polycore® shutters as straight as an arrow.

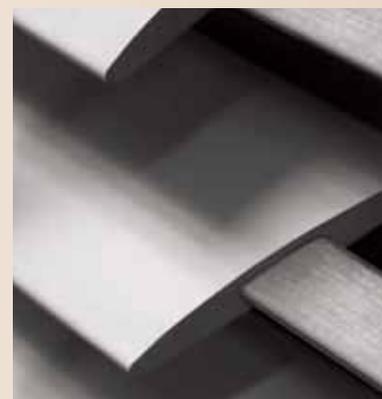

The co-extruded aluminum reinforcement allows Polycore® shutters to be assembled with screws for superior strength, unlike other poly shutters that are only glued together.

Polycore's synthetic composition means that they are very durable, have an inherently high R-value and are extremely energy efficient. Polycore® shutters are also moisture resistant and flame retardant, perfect for use in bathrooms, over kitchen sinks, or in other humid or warm environments.

All Polycore® shutters are GREENGUARD® Indoor Air Quality and Children & Schools Certified. This means that Polycore® shutters have passed an extensive series of tests to ensure that they meet stringent third-party standards on chemical emissions based on established health standards.

Bullet proof engineering using the industry's toughest screw and bolting system.
